The visualizations are all similar in the sense that they show a scale of data. For instance the map would show a scale of hues for the private prisons, the word cloud would show a scale of hues and intensity of last words, and the network would have different hue of categories.

Combine & Refine

Idea: Have a map that shows each county in texas. When the user hovers over a specific county shows a list of data ranging from representative from that county, private prisons, donations to those private prisons, and PACS.
